Skip, do you really think that's what that means? Think about it, you ran ads against Lisa Sulka, one of the hardest working Mayors in the state and where did that get you?
It could just simply mean that sanity wins over cowardly little man rants.

Last email to you so govern yourself accordingly.

See you in Florida.

Peace Out.

I don't publish private emails littleman because only cowards like you do that.

You hide behind your keyboard in a different state ranting craziness and attacking innocent people - makes you a littleman.

When it comes time to appear in court to atone and face the people you slander YOU DON'T SHOW UP - That's the coward part. Undeniable.

That's how you'll be remembered, a little man coward.

Good morning little man, and yes you are a coward and everyone knows it including your wife I'm sure. You see little man, when you attack people on email it is a sure sign of being a coward, your facts are so far off and you and I know you're in your own little world. You want so badly to be somebody, don't you little man. See, Skippy, when I email you I do it directly to you and don't try to rally people behind me ( how is that working out for you?)

So first, an apology- when I asked you what kind of birds don't fly it probably confused you. You were probably thinking it could be the birds you shoot on the ground or it could be a jail bird so we can just go with both.

Second, what kind of a man will ask a question on a private email and then put it out? A little man coward, we all know it.

Third, you copy FBI, SLED, Local Law Enforcement, on and on add nauseam, and let's be honest little man - really honest; how many have answered you? How many? You see little man, in your own world you're a hero trying to save the day but in reality you're so far off kilter, you are so out there with your accusations that no one even hears that high little voice of yours - is the FBI answering you? is SLED? who is? other than a few wackos that simply have not figured out that you're a little man coward that really wants to be someone.

I really feel sorry for your wife little man, it might be a good idea for you to apologize to her.

But little man, we can turn this into good if you can muster up the courage. Let's do this, let's sell seats to your community service and donate the money to VIM to help those in need during this crisis. I'm sure people would pay to see you performing community service, you know actually working and doing something positive. We could sell tailgate spots! If you're wearing your orange jumper we could possibly even raise more money. And even better, I'll match it dollar for dollar on the tailgate spots. Whatcha think? If you could, let me know as soon as possible. I'm sure I can sell out the front row and tail gate spots today!!!! We can get the news paper to cover it- I mean you seem to be good friends with everyone there!!! We might could even film it, Little man coward does community service? You could even register the domain, Coward@littleman.com.

Let me know what you think Skippy! And if you want, send the to your make believe FBI people, they may want to join in on the fun!!!!!!!

Skip, you are such a little man coward. "waaaaaaa waaaaaa David, he's picking on me. Please publish it"

Look you little cry baby, they are not going to publish private emails. So I'm telling you little coward man, Ask your wife for some money, run to Walmart and buy a Back Bone and come by my office and we'll talk about it in person- the only thing I ask is that you kindly brush your teeth first. Work for you little coward man?

And would you please, please let me know when your public service starts and where, As stated before I'd like to get a lawn chair and watch you actually do something productive. Sound good little man?

And if I were a coward like you, I'd publish a man to man email, but I'm not and we all know you are- at least we both think alike on that little man, now don't we?

I ask that you please do back Covert, be doing me a big favor.

How is all that "asking" working out for you little man?

Josh, just saw this too.

Maybe you should get the facts before you fall hook, line and sinker for what Skip is preaching. Do you think he comes up from his house in Florida to save all the good people in SC because he's so benevolent? You may want to do a little more checking before you blindly follow your hero Skip and send things out, try using your own brain an some common sense.

Regards,

Bill Herbkersman
